I have well documented my husband's obsession with traveling light here on the blog. Every time we are about to depart on a new voyage, whether it is a long weekend or 3 weeks away, I get the very polite lecture about how I really should learn how to travel with just a carry-on, how much time we can save, yadda, yadda, yadda.. Our dueling obsessions – his traveling with minimal clothes and provisions and mine, traveling with a closet full up beauty products struggle to peacefully co-exist. While we continue to find a way for Below are the products that will definitely be part of my carry-on when my family and I depart on our holiday in Italy.

Votre Vu Bebe Duette ($18) – The ultimate multi-tasker, this includes a rich hand creme, as well as a moisturizing lip balm and mirror all in-in-one.
