

Wearing Champs-Élipsisé

BEAUTY, MAKEUP

Your Next Favorite Makeup Brand & Product Review: Votre Vu

Posted by DELIALICIOUS on SEPTEMBER 28, 2016

Votre Vu. Just the name of this brand alone transports me to France where I envision myself with freshly manicured nails eating a toasted croissant with an accordion playing in the background. But, I digress. Votre Vu is a brand I stumbled upon when I attended Cosmoprof North America's annual tradeshow. The brand creates skin care products and custom-blended cosmetics.

Somehow I was able to nab one of their lip crayon's in the shade Champs-ÉLIPsée. If you follow me on Instagram, you've already seen how gorgeous this color is from one of the pictures I posted (see above image). The lip color glides on effortlessly and gives a perfect tint of color that is pigmented but subtle.

I have searched and searched and was not able to find it online, so it's possible that this is a new lip product that they will be coming out with soon. In the meantime, if you want to experience some of the other amazing variety of lip products (and other cosmetics), you can browse their site and be one of the first among your friends to try this budding line. One of my recommendations (and you can actually find this one on their website) is its Duetto Luxe Lip Balm & Hand Crème (pictured below), which is a tube that features a luxurious hand cream with almond and coconut fragrances, topped with a coconut flavored lip balm adorned with a mirror.

